City Concerned about Preliminary Plans For Greenbelt METRO Station Design

by Bill Rowland

Metrorail, a proposed mix of residential and commercial development, computerized crime forecasting, and an unaesthetic sidewalk were among the miscellany of topics put in front of city council during its regular meeting on January 24.

The Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority has developed a preliminary site plan for the Greenbelt Metrorail Station, together with a plan for an interim parking facility to be built on the permanent parking lot site. The interim parking lot would serve a planned commuter railroad station. The location set aside for this proposed construction is along the south side of the Beltway, between Springhill Lake Apartments and the railroad tracks.

The interim parking lot would have almost 500 spaces, while the full-scale Metrorail station parking area could eventually hold more than 3000 vehicles. In the view of the city officials, neither plan would provide adequately for handling the flow of traffic. Only Beltway motorists arriving from or leaving to the west would have direct access to the area. All other car and bus traffic would have to move via Cherrywood Lane, which connects with Greenbelt Road. The city position has been that a Beltway overpass will be needed to connect Cherrywood Lane with Ivy Lane in order to relieve the traffic pressures on city streets.

During its January 24 meeting, council received a report on the site plans from the city's Advisory Planning Board. According to the report, "The METRO representatives suggested that when the plans for the interim facility are more complete later this year, they will come back and further discuss them with the APB recommended that "No action be taken on these plans but meet with METRO representatives again later in 1983 to review plans again."

To which the response of Councilman Thomas White was the equivalent of "No way!" He believes these plans are something on which council must act now, not later. He does not want to see what are now "interim" plans become "final," with the city then being told that it is too late for further discussion. White said he does not favor construction of an interim commuter parking lot if the city is "getting strung along." He declared that an early meeting with the planners is needed so the city can learn what it has to do to secure its future position on traffic flow APB Chairman William Wilkerson agreed with White that the proposed "interim" facility could turn out to have a very long life, perhaps even becoming permanent. Mayor Gil Weidenfeld asked city staff to put the issue back on the agenda for council's next meeting.

In a separate development bearing on the future of Metrorail for Greenbelt, City Manager James Giese told council that citizen opposition to the proposed routing of the METRO E route through College Park continues strong. A part of that opposition is focused on the plan to close Calvert Road at the railroad tracks. Giese noted that the College Park council has scheduled a work session for February 16 to have a briefing by METRO and county planners on alternate roads across the tracks. He asked whether Greenbelt's council would like to express concern about the possible delay in E route construction that might result if further planning studies are undertaken. Council agreed that they did indeed want to express such concern, and directed Giese to send a "very tactful" letter to the College Park officials, with copies to other affected municipalities.

Green Works to Prevent Sale of BARC Parcels

Concerned about the possible erosion of open space in the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center, State Senator Leo Green is introducing a resolution in the Maryland General Assembly urging President Reagan, the Congress, and the federal agencies involved not to offer for sale two parcels of land in the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center. A hearing will be held by the Senate Finance Committee on Wednesday, February 16 at 1 p.m. in the James Senate Office Building.

The two parcels, representing 260 acres which the Research Center's master plan schedules for future use, have been declared surplus by the Department of Agriculture and the General Services Administration, as part of a general scheme to sell property deemed surplus at the appraised value, subject to negotiation. Since no other federal agency is interested in acquiring the land, the property will first be offered to the State of Maryland and then to local govern-

Green, who feels that the in-tegrity of the Center's master plan must be maintained, is working with Greenbelt officials to save the property for the or-derly development of future projects of the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center. Senator Arthur Dorman, co-sponsor of the resolution, in reply to a letter from the city, said that he would continue to work to keep the open space from being devel-

Mayor Gil Weidenfeld on behalf of council wrote letters to federal, state and county officials expressing council's displeasure with an upcoming evaluation of the 7,500-acre BARC by the Gen-Services Administration. The survey is being done to determine if the 7,500 acre center is being properly utilized and if it should be sold to other federal governmental agencies or to state or local governments or be auctioned off to private developers. Council has also protested the disposal by GSA of 260 acres of BARC land which is currently on the market.

Weidenfeld noted in his letter "that it would be far more costly to relocate the research center operations to another facility location than the government would receive from the sale of the land. Beyond the fact that previous reviews have all determined that this is a cost ineffective proposal," the letter continues, "it has been noted that numerous research experiments conducted over extended periods of time would be wiped out by any relocation of the facility."

Council Searches For Possible Ways To Break Stalemate

City Council, at its next regular meeting on Monday, February 7, will again attempt to resolve its impasse over selection of a person to fill the council vacancy. At a work session on February 1, council discussed a number of ways in which the issue might be resolved. After ruling out any suggested approach to which two or more of the four members objected, the councilmen agreed to give formal consideration at the February 7 regular meeting to these two possible solutions: (1) Reevaluate all five candidates, in the hope that one or more councilmen might decide to change his vote, or that a compromise selection might result. (2) Amend the city charter to provide for a special election to fill the vacancy, with such an election possibly taking place in late Ap-

Mayor Gil Weidenfeld said that candidates and their supporters will not be called on to make speeches at the February

Wanted: A Decision

The four members of city council owe it to Greenbelt's voters to decide, Monday night, who is to fill the fifth council seat. The councilmen were elected to make decisions. To date, on the issue of filling the council vacancy as assigned to them specifically by the charter, they have not done their job.

Although locked in an impasse on this issue, the councilmen have so far wisely rejected various ideas that would let them avoid or delay making a decision. But they now show growing interest in two other concepts which we find questionable. One is that council can function effectively with only four members until the regular election in September. The present impasse on filling the vacancy demonstrates the need for a tie-breaking fifth member. The other concept is that the city charter might be amended and a special election be held by late April. Such a call for a costly special election less than five months before the next regular election looks too much like just another way for the four councilmen to avoid a decision.

This has been an excellent council. Its members have already built a can-do reputation. Do they really want to say they can't?

Correction

In last week's article on Greenbelt Homes' Rehab Loan Deferral Program by Peter Durantine, an extra word in the middle of one sentence changed its meaning. The paragraph should have read:

The sum, $35, was arrived at in 1978 when the RLDP proproposal was submitted to the county. The $35 rate was the projected average increase for members monthly charges. Since that time, the monthly charges have dropped.

Compiled by Elaine Skolnik

As a result of an investigation conducted by Det./Sgt. Ernest Brumley, Det./Cpl. Terrence Mc-Grath and Det./Pfc. Doug Sappington, a 23-year-old resident, was charged with one count of trespassing (Peeping Tom), two counts of concealed deadly weapons, two counts of local burglary, one count of local breaking and entering and one count of attempt at breaking and entering. The incidents occurred in the Ridge and Crescent Roads area. There are additional charges pending grand jury indictment. The man has been released on $750 bond.

A breaking and entering was reported in a residence behind Greenway Shopping Center. Apparently the person or persons had been residing in the house. Another entering was reported on Westway Road. Entry was gained through the sliding glass patio door, which had been left unlocked. Over $1,400 worth of stereo equipment was reported stolen. Another entering occurred in the 9100 block of Edmonston Rd. While there were no signs of forced entry, jewelry and crystal were reported stolen.

A woman's purse was stolen while she was walking to her car at 7900 Mandan Road on the evening of January 28. A black male in his mid-20's, posing as a jogger, forcibly took her purse, which was later found and returned.

There were two auto thefts over the weekend - one at 9300 Edmonston Rd., the other at 7200 Mandan Road.

According to recently submitted plans for 1983, In-Service Training for officers will occur in three separate sessions. The program will be conducted by the Takoma Park Police Department.

Travel

My wife and I just returned from three weeks in Florida and found a mixed bag of reductions for the senior citizen. Of the seven motels we stayed at, I was able to get a 10 percent discount in six. In two from the same chain, I had to have a special card, which costs five dollars. Watching the billboards I noticed that other motels were advertising deductions for senior citizens ranging from the ten percent, which was the most prevalent, to as high as 25 percent.

While we did not go to many of the tourist attractions, we did not receive any deductions at the ones we visited. At Cypress Gradens we had a coupon which would have given us a SC discount on Mondays, but we were there on a Friday. At the Everglades National Park, there is no charge if you are over 62 years of age, which I missed by six months.

Because we stayed with relatives part of the time, we did not eat out often. The only restaurant where I was able to get a SC discount was Sambos, which has a national policy of giving a 10 percent discount for SC. The one where we ate did not have a sign, but I asked anyway, as I do in most places. On the other hand I did notice that a large number of restaurants had SC specials, or early bird meals at a reduced cost, which could reduce the cost of travel.

Pitkin Co-sponsors Bill Against Open-bed Trucks

On Wednesday, February 9, citizens will once again be able to express support for legislation requiring truckers carrying loose loads to cover the beds of their trucks.

The bill has had an unsuccessfull history for 20 years. "The trucking lobby is hard to beat. They come in every year with their oldest, sickest trucker and claim that the trucks can't be covered. Nobody seems to care about the motorist who is spending in excess of $200 per windshield when the stones start to fly," stated Delegate Joan Pitkin, a co-sponsor of the bill.

Pitkin also expressed concern about the health hazards encountered with numerous uncovered trucks frequenting areas where sand and gravel operations occur. The State Department of Health has stated that control of "fugitive dust" from the transporting of materials is a significant factor in an area's ability to attain the national ambient air quality standard for particulate matter.

"What I would really like to see is a good participation at the hearing by proponents," said Pitkin "In the past, everyone wanted it but not enough to come to Annapolis in droves. This year I want bodies—and lots of them—to show support."

The city of Greenbelt supports this bill. Citizens interested in showing support may come to the Annapolis hearing on February 9, 1 p.m., at the Lowe House Office Building, room 160. More information may be obtained by calling 858-3098.

GHI IS PLEASED TO ANNOUNCE the REHAB LOAN DEFERRAL PROGRAM

Under the Reliab Loan Deferral Program (RLDP) eligible households may defer $35.00 a month of their rehab payment. The deferred amount or loan would be assessed 3% accrued interest and would be repaid when the house was sold or at any earlier time the member wished. RLDP participants would therefore have an extra $420.000 available over the year for other necessities. RLDP is made possible by $270,000.00 of Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds. The CDBG program is a Federal program administered in Prince George's County by the Prince George's County Program Planning & Economic Development (PPED) Department.

Eligibility

A member's individual financial status will determine eligibility for the program. The following Federal housing assistance criteria provide a guideline for determining eligibility:

F	Highest Eligibility Income Limit	No. in Household
	$15,100	A language
	$17,300	2
	$19,450	3
	$21,600	4
	$22,950	5
	$24,300	6

A member must also have a rehab charge of at least $35.00 a month.

Application

Interested members must fill out a Rehab Loan Deferral Program application form which is available from the GHI Receptionist. After GHI receives the completed application form, a personal interview will be scheduled with the Member Services Coordinator. Applicants should bring documentation of income, housing operating costs, and assets to the interview. Anyone with questions may call the Member Services Coordinator (474-6644).

GHI expects RLDP deferrals to begin on March 1, 1983. The cooperative is pleased to have this opportunity to help its member's who need assistance.

Greenbelt's Great

by Sandra Barnes

Richard Castaldi is living the all American dream. Elected mayor one year ago, he thought he had reached the pinnacle of his political career. Born and raised in Greenbelt, he first ran for the city council when he was 29 years old. On his fifth term, he achieved the highest number of votes and tradition proclaimed him mayor. "It was the biggest thrill of my life," Castaldi says with boyish enthusiasm. "I wanted to do a really good job."

This desire to do a good job, plus the fact that being mayor conveyed upon him a greater sense of responsibility (or so he thought) has propelled him into the larger arena of county polities.

As Greenbelt was once again shoved into redistricting alignment with its larger sister city of Bowie, Castaldi reflected the unhappiness of most Greenbelters. In addition, he felt "If Greenbelt got disenfranchised, I would be responsible. I was the mayor."

So, instead of lolling away the past summer at his beach house, Castaldi thrust himself into the race for a county council seat—to give Greenbelt a voice in future political decisions ture political decisions.

"I heard people say Greenbelt could never get together" to elect our own candidate, he said. "But, we brought people in who never worked together before. And I had a good feeling when I campaigned in Bowie and Lanham."

Along with a legion of workers, and his 70-year-old parents, Edward and Marie, he spent many an hour in all-night strategy sessions, door knocking and putting up signs in a blitz twomonth campaign to the September primary. Election day, he pumped hands at Magnolia Elementary, a key precinct, he felt. "Voters would say to me, 'I remember you. You knocked on my door. I'm going to vote for you.' By mid-afternoon, I could feel the momentum picking up. When I left the polls that evening, I felt good." He smiled confidently, savoring the moment of victory once again. "It was the biggest thrill!"

Thus, Richard J. Castaldi—hometown boy—is now county councilman Richard Castaldi. His place of business has not changed as he has worked in Upper Marlboro for the last 20 years.

But, he has gone from a midlevel position in the zoning and permit office of the county to a seat of power on the nine-member council. And he is relishing it.

"It is much more difficult and challenging than I thought it would be," he says earnestly. "I thought I knew what the job was all about because of my background with park and planning," he muses. "Troubleshooting and working with developers and zoning attorneys. People told me it would be a part-time job, but it's not."

At least it's not for Castaldi. That same conscientious desire to do a good job that influenced his actions as mayor of Greenbelt intensifies his devotion to constituent service. He spends six to eight hours a day in Upper Marlboro or downtown in his role as chairman of the Washington Area Metropolitan Transit Authority (WMATA) board. Evenings find him attending 4-H meetings or Democratic Club meetings often in Bowie where he is working hard to prove that he can represent that area as well as he does Greenbelt.

Part of what he feels is the effectiveness of his response to constituent's complaints is embodied in the person of his attractive, dark-haired administrative assistant. Ann Gordon

"We complement each other,"
Castaldi maintains. "She handles the social service and school issues. I take care of zoning, transportation, and development issues." His campaign manager for the last two elections, Ann is an integral part of his life. She manages his schedule, sees that he gets to the right places on time, handles his office staff, and is his biggest booster.

What are the major concerns of the council this year? Jobs, schools, roads, Metro, Castaldi says. He's trying hard to interpret what the voters said in November to make the "right" decision. He's worried about the $45 million gap between revenues and expenditures in the county budget. "The property tax is not equitable," he explains. "A tax on income is fairest."

He also worries about what the federal government is going to do about the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center (BARC) property. He fears that the government's intent is to sell it at the highest price with only big developers bidding. This would not only impact negatively on Greenbelt but also on Bowie, he says. Moreover "the county's master plan would be in jeopardy."

On METRO, he fears Prince Georges may end up without a viable system "unless we quit arguing about it and working against it after a decision has been made."

Still seeking what he calls "the right groove" on the county council, he is feeling his way gingerly, gaining experience without stepping on a colleague's territory, trying to keep on top of things. He misses the group on the Greenbelt City Council, he says of his former colleagues. But he obviously loves where he is, "I don't think anything could be as exciting!" he proclaims.

Council Looks at Parcel 15 Proposals

(Continued from page one) be developed. This parcel lies south of Greenbelt Lake and west of Charlestowne North apartments. It is bordered on the west by the Beltway. Last fall the owner of the land came in with a plan to build 55 single-family detached houses on 20 acres of the 29-acre parcel. Neither APB nor council thought well of the idea. Objections were that it would be an unimaginative development too close to the Lake and Attick Park, with too much noise for its residents from the Beltway, and with streets too narrow to handle traffic and parking. (Reminder: Attick Park is the renamed Lake Park.)

Since then APB has explored two alternative plans with a representative of the owner. One of these plans would provide a mix of 47 single-family homes and 15 townhouses, but APB found most of the earlier objections would still apply. APB reported to council that the other alternative "may be the best of the three": 99 townhouse units using the full 29 acres, with 83 of these residential units and the other 16 commercial. The commercial units would be located between the American Legion and the Beltway, and Legion Drive would give a second entrance into the development (in addition Prince James Way).

APB, in its written report, said, ". . . the board would like to receive some feedback from city council as to whether the board is heading in the right direction . . . Would the council consider a proposal for residential and commercial use of this land . . .?" This time it was Councilman Richard Pilski who offered the equivalent of "No way," saying he had a problem with the introduction of commercial townhouses. He could fore-see this opening the door for the owner to come back in the future, say that the commercial use had changed the neighborhood, and demand commercial zoning for the entire property. Pilski said he had been fighting this kind of

to put the APB report on a future agenda for further consideration.

Crime Data

Richard Cripe of Putens Associates, Inc., has given council a proposal for development of a computerized crime information system for the city, to be done in cooperation with the University of Maryland. The objective would be to put crime data into a computer and pull out periodic reports of crime activity as well as projections of possible crime occurrences. The Greenbelt Crime Prevention Committee supports development of such an information system.

It was Giese's turn to blow the whistle. He and city police officials want to get various record material, including crime data, computerized, and they find very attractive the idea of getting technical assistance in doing this. But Giese said rather flatly that it would not be acceptable to have students and others who are not police personnel, and who furthermore would be using a computer not under city control, delving into city police records. Giese made it clear that a datahandling effort of this sort would have to be done "in house." Further dampening the idea, Giese expressed his belief that a lot of crime "is essentially patternless" - that is, would not lend itself to efforts aimed at predicting its occurrence.

Council agreed to defer action to give Cripe time to study a report on the issue prepared by city staff. Cripe said he would be willing to talk about changes, but pointed out that help offered by the University is based on this being a research project for them, and only the University people involved could decide how much change they could accept.

Councilman Edward Putens withdrew himself from council consideration of this proposal, inasmuch as his firm is involved.

Board Members Council took the following ac-action for years. Council agreed tions involving membership on city advisory boards and committees:

> -Accepted the resignation of Wayne W. Spong, Chairman of the Park and Recreation Advisory Board, and a member of the board for the past eight years. Spong is moving out of the com-

-Accepted the resignation of Robert J. Flynn as Chairman of the Greenbelt Crime Prevention Committee. He resigned because of the press of other business.

-Reappointed Rex Smart for another term on the Crime Prevention Committee, and Rose Amberg, Albert F. Cousin, and Katherine Keene for additional terms on the Community Relations Advisory Board.

-Appointed Marc Siegel to the Park and Recreation Advisory Board.

Streets & Such

Ridge Road from Gardenway to Eastway is to be reconstructed, using $130,000 in Community Development Block Grant funds. The city now has a contract with Prince Georges County and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for these funds. Council took the first step in appropriating the money. Council also voted to accept Ivy Lane in the Capital Office Park into the city road system, after receiving certification from Giese that construction of the street meets city standards.

Council accepted, without immediate comment or action, a report of the Advisory Planning Board regarding the newly completed concrete sidewalk along Crescent Road between Parkway and Northway. APB recommended thus: 1) That the board is disappointed in the aesthetic quality of the . . . sidewalk and suggests that this type sidewalk not be continued along Crescent Road. 2) That any future sidewalk construction along Crescent Road be studied in light of the natural aesthetics of Crescent Road."

License Tag Renewals to Be Mailed Soon

The Motor Vehicle Administration will begin mailing license tag renewal applications to Maryland's 2.4 million passenger car and motorcycle owners Friday, February 11. Renewal stickers will be available at all MVA offices beginning Monday, February 14.

The MVA reported, however, that about 194,265 motorists will not receive their tag renewal applications because they either failed to pay parking tickets, or comply with equipment repair orders by December 1, or have not complied with the requirements of the Maryland compulsory insurance law.

Motorists holding outstanding parking tickets will receive a "flagging" letter, similar to a warning letter they previously received, informing them that their tag applications have been withheld, or "flagged," and spelling out the procedure for making payment. Motorists with unsatisfied safety equipment repair orders and motorists who have not satisfied the requirements of compulsory insurance have already been notified. Only after a motorist has cleared up all outstanding flags will the MVA issue him a tag application.

MVA also wishes to remind Maryland motorists that under the state's compulsory insurance law, every motor vehicle registered in the state must be insured in the minimum amounts of $20,000/$40,000 for bodily injury, $10,000 for property damage, uninsured motorist coverage in the same amounts, and $2500 for economic loss.

Motorists can complete a tag renewal application and return it by mail with the required fee and insurance information to receive their renewal stickers without standing in line at an MVA office as the tag expiration deadline approaches. However, applications postmarked later than March 20 may not be processed in time to meet the March 31 deadline.

Renewal stickers may be purchased from MVA headquarters in Glen Burnie or at any MVA branch office from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays. In keeping with MVA's once-a-month Saturday opening, the branch offices will be open Saturday, March 5, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and closed the following Monday, March 7. All MVA offices will be closed on Friday, March 25, in observance of Maryland Day. The closest branch to Greenbelt is located at 5112 Berwyn Road, College Park.

In addition, beginning March 1, motorists may also secure renewal stickers at Montgomery Wards at Capital Plaza, Laurel Shopping Center and Wheaton Plaza from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday except for March 25.

Vehicle owners who do not receive their tag applications by the end of February should contact the MVA immediately, giving their present tag number and vehicle identification (serial) number, full name, and present address.

For further information motorists should contact the branch office in their vicinity or call the Glen Burnie tag renewal information number, (301) 768-1800.

Motorists are cautioned that Maryland law prohibits display of the new validation stickers before March 1 and are reminded that the stickers must be displayed in the upper right-hand corner of all passenger vehicle tags and on the lower right-hand corner of motorcycle tags by midnight, March 31.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

PROPOSED USES FOR REVENUE SHARING FUND AND ALL OTHER CITY FUNDS FOR COMING FISCAL YEAR

Federal Regulations require the City Manager to hold a public hearing on proposed uses for Revenue Sharing Fund monies for the next fiscal year (July 1, 1983 through June 30, 1984). Such a hearing is scheduled for

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1983 - 8:00 P.M.

CITY COUNCIL ROOM, MUNICIPAL BUILDING 25 Crescent Road, Greenbelt, MD.

The public hearing will be conducted as the first item of business on the agenda of the regular meeting of City Council.

At the public hearing, all citizens of Greenbelt, Maryland shall have an opportunity to provide written or oral comments on the possible uses of Revenue Sharing Fund monies, as well as on the uses of all other funds to be budgeted. Senior citizens and organizations representing the interests of senior citizens will be given every opportunity to be heard and to present their views regarding the allocation of these funds prior to final allocation.

The following amounts are estimated to be available for allocation in the Revenue Sharing Fund during the coming fiscal year:

Unappropriated Balance Fiscal Year 1983 Entitlement Payments Fiscal Year 1984

$34,000

Legislation authorizing the Federal Revenue Sharing Program expires at the end of the current Federal Fiscal Year, September 30, 1983. Thus, at present the City is only assured of one quarterly payment in Fiscal Year 1984. If the program is re-enacted by Congress, the City could receive additional entitlement funds. At the current rate of receipt, these additional funds would be approximately $63,250.

After the public hearing, the City Manager will prepare his budget proposal for Revenue Sharing Funds and all other City funds for submission to the City Council on April 4, 1983. Subsequently, the City Council will conduct a public hearing on the revenue sharing budget and all other City budgets prior to adoption of the FY 1983/84 budget.

Gudrun H. Mills City Clerk
